XII. TOWN MANAGER’S COMMENTS

Mr. Sutherland thanked the team that helped make the Waste Audit July 18 a great success. Volunteers included Laura Berry, Alexa Bird, Angie Flores, Bethany Leavitt, Cynthia Isenhour, Grace Curry, Jared Entwistle, Megan Huff, Meredith Cook, Travis Blackmer, and Valerie Peacock. Public Works crew members involved were Bill Soukup, Travis Smith, Ben Beal, Matt Hudson, Jeff Lewis, and Jason Lawrence. Partnering Agencies were the University of Maine, Town of Bar Harbor, A Climate to Thrive, College of the Atlantic and The Jackson Laboratory. The process was literally sifting through garbage to figure out what the materials are. A lot of it is compost. We weighed everything when it came in, separated it into categories, and weighed it again. We collected about 950 pounds of garbage and we sifted through about 700 of it. That information will be meaningful as we look to find other ways to divert our waste stream and save the taxpayers money.

He also said meetings with Public Works union representatives have begun and there may be an update ready for executive session discussion at the August 2 meeting.

The Sustainability Coordinator and Communications Coordinator positions have been posted. He said an interview team will begin reviewing applications this week and looking to schedule interviews for next week.

XIII. COUNCIL COMMENTS

Mr. Hochman said he hopes the petitioners and petition supporters understand the reasons for pausing before signing the order to put the amendment on the November warrant. He hopes they understand that if there’s any question about the legality the Council needs to know. We’re not trying to circumvent their efforts, we just need to make sure we’re doing this the right way. He also asked about a review of the traffic light at Mount Desert Street and Eden Street with MDOT. If the left lane was a straight and left turn only and the right lane was right turn only, or the timing of the light was changed, it might help with the long backup in the afternoon.

Mr. Dobbs asked when the discussion of legal ramifications of the petition will happen. Mr. Sutherland suggested either ahead of the next Council meeting or at the beginning of the regular meeting time.

Ms. Goldthwait said Jill’s Weekly Winner is Finance Director Sarah Gilbert. When she was first coming to Council meetings, she looked a little bit like a deer in headlights, even though she was already very smooth and polished. Now she whips right through financial reports no problem. Good work, Sarah!

Mr. Minutolo said he appreciated the civility of the public hearing.

Ms. Peacock said none of us are surprised that cruise ships are a contentious issue and it’s a really complicated issue. We’ve been trying to figure this out as a Council, it hasn’t been smooth or easy, and every single week she learns something new. She said she knows that’s frustrating for people in our community who feel it’s going too slow, or that we’ve tried things that haven’t worked, we’ve backtracked. We’ve moved the conversation into a not-public place right now, and that is frustrating for people too. She said she understands and empathizes with that frustration. She trusts that the Council wants to do this the right way. If this petition is the right thing to do and it's what the citizens want, we want to give it the best chance that it can have. We also want to make sure that we're thinking about the big picture. The hearing itself was great; people shared a lot of ideas, not just about the petition but also about how we think about each other and ourselves and the environment, about who we are and who we're trying to be. She looks forward to finding more opportunities for conversation and finding those overlapping places that we all know that we have. She said she's sorry the hearing ended in an awkward way but she trusts the Council going to do the due diligence it needs to do.

She said the Comprehensive Plan work has been ramping up, preparing for some big conversations to happen in the fall. The Existing Conditions Report has been revised and there's a subcommittee that has been taking sections of that and crafting activities and questions for engagement events that are going to be starting in November. Before that, the committee has been signing up to table at events. Quite a lot of people participated in the survey; there's a lot of information, and the committee was excited because it was mostly positive. There are big problems that people are struggling with, but the contributions had a positive, collaborative, solution-focused tone.

She shared more reflections on the waste audit. The group literally collected people's trash, ripped open the bags, put them on tables, and sorted through it. It was not something she recommends folks do in their spare time, but it was also a really interesting and amazing experience to think about what's coming through our trash.

Mr. Friedmann said he gives everyone who participated in the waste audit a lot of credit; it was hard work on a very hot day.
